Is your organization planning to hold a Penny Social? Looking for an experienced printer to print your tickets? Stedner Printing, at 135-137 Canal Street prints over one million penny social tickets a year, for groups over in Westchester and Pennsylvania, as well as for local ones!

When his next-door tenant moved out in October, 2002, Willie Stedner, owner and manager of Stedner Printing, decided to expand his 31-year-old business rather than rent again. Even before a door connected the two adjacent sites, the business had no interruption in service to the public while it spread out into its new space and installed new and improved equipment.

Stedner Printing, a full-service printer, has, in addition to a new entrance, a full basement loaded with every conceivable kind of paper and stock, having recently bought out a paper warehouse in Albany, acquiring 200,000 pounds of paper, including hard-to-find discontinued items, as well as open stock. If you are looking for that special shade of off-white for your wedding invitations, Stedner has it. With its computer systems expertly reinstalled by Marc Kalipolites, Stedner Printing is ready to handle any kind of order.

Among newly acquired state-of-the-art equipment is a digital scanner that produces full-color plates for high-quality printing, at a much lower cost-per-piece than previous two-color printers could produce. Another new machine is a banner-maker that can produce 42-inch-wide, 18-foot-long banners for businesses or events.

The larger retail display area carries an extensive selection of reams of copy paper, resume paper, pads, envelopes in every color, and numerous other supplies. With new equipment, and stock in every size, texture, and color, Stedner Printing can fill any order, from the simplest photocopying task to the most elaborate, full-color high-end printing job. Stedner's expert, efficient, and friendly staff is always ready to help.
